WRITING

The aim of this report is to show the level of consumption of fast foods among modern teenagers. We are going to assess and compare information gathered in the years 2010 and 2016.

To learn about tendencies of eating fast foods, I asked my classmates and other pupils of our school about their own preferences in 2010 and 2016. Having finished my survey, I draw conclusions about developing trends connected with consumption of fast foods.

Looking at the information given in the charts, we can first of all notice that the preferences of students have changed markedly. As we can see the most popular kind of fast food nowadays is sandwich which used to be one of the most favored also six years ago. ~~Their~~^{Its} popularity has increased with 20%. But the consumption of hamburgers has on contrary declined tragically. There are no radical changes connected with pizzas and hot dogs. From 2010 to 2016 they haven't moved from their positions substantially. The consumption of pizza has went down gently with nearly 4,5%, whereas the consumption of hot dogs has raised slightly.

I assume that the reason of these changes is the pursuit of students to eat healthy food. And as we know sandwiches can be made ~~at~~ of natural products at our own homes. Moreover, it doesn't take a lot of time to make a sandwich, which is very important for teenagers, busy with studying.

I think that the situation ^{always} will change cardinally in the ~~near~~ future. Teenagers nowadays are trying to keep themselves in a good physical form and to avoid obesity, so I assume that in the near future there will be only healthy, dietic food represented in our charts.
