Two days ago at our town's central square a charity event, called "Let Children Study", took place. It was organised in order to raise money for building schools in poor villages. 100.

As you can see in the picture, two guys are holding boxes full of bottles, into which people are supposed to drop their coins. Also, a happy girl is hugging another. We got some information from her. Actually, she's 12 years old, though she's still not able to study, because there are no free places at regional schools. Now, the girl hopes that the changes will come soon.

In fact, the results of this event are really impressive. During several days, there was donated a sum of money, which is enough for building at least two schools, each one for not less than nine 91. 100.

hundred pupils. This way many children will realise their right to get education. Everyone sees that it is very important for our country's future.

Also, we met some people and asked their opinions. "I'm very proud of those who organised this event. Studying is one of the main things in our lives!" - thinks Mary Armstrong, a housewife. "I always give my money for charity. I insist, there ~~also~~ should be more help for people in need," - says Gerard White, a teacher.

To finish up, I'll tell you that on ^{such a} ~~that~~ sunny day I haven't noticed any sad faces in the crowd. Everyone was smiling and waiting for a happy future.
