Implementing the four-day ~~to~~ workweek is considered to be dubious. It has ~~many~~^{some} advantages for particular industries and businesses. However, any coin has not only the obverse but the reverse as well.

Although the two texts are devoted to the system of making ~~employers~~^{employees} work four days a week, they are different. It is said in the first text that trying such a system leads to job satisfaction ~~and~~ better mental state. On the contrary, the second text lets the reader understand that some workers ~~who~~ are bound to have less time for doing their tasks and hence feel stressed. Nevertheless, I cannot agree with the second opinion. I strongly believe that everything depends on a ~~productivity~~^{professional} strategy of each worker. Should ~~all~~^{employees} ~~employers~~ strike a balance between work and rest, they would never feel stressed. A further point in comparing the texts is that, on the one hand, reducing working hours leads to poor productivity. On the other hand, those who have more time for relaxation show more productive results. Personally, I think that ~~employers~~ employees should have more time for themselves as they need to feel calm and satisfied at work. After all, both texts show that all companies should perceive the decision of implementing the four-day workweek ~~it~~ wisely to remain ~~an~~ effective.

To recap, ~~it~~ being controversial, the four-day workweek is still a good option for business.

~~"If Social Media~~

Yesterday I had a strange dream in which there were no social networks and media at all. A real nightmare! But, ~~it~~ however, how would ~~we~~ ^{we} live ~~if~~ if it was true?

~~Face-to-face communication~~

Undoubtedly, people would gather as often as possible to discuss everything in the world. No short messages anymore! But what about online friends? There would be none of them. That's the problem.

Daily tasks

We ~~don't~~ ~~can't~~ can't imagine our lives without online shopping, food delivery

Finding support.

My followers are my friends. I can say whatever I want and they will understand me. Social media provides an opportunity to find people with common interests and goals. I think it's impossible to live without such online support. It is a way of avoiding loneliness, isn't it?

Role models

We all have role models ~~in~~ ~~in~~ thanks to media platforms. It makes me think that social networks have become a source of inspiration and motivation. People would become less energetic if there was no media.

Relationships

Can you imagine having no chance to send a hilarious meme ^{to} to your friend?! I can't. ~~Sending posts is almost vital for modern people.~~ I like watching funny videos with dogs and cats that my friends send ^{to} me. I think it's so important. It makes us closer, ~~and more sincere~~ ~~unders~~ People would be less friendly ^{and understanding} - without media.

Sharing thoughts

~~If there we~~

If media platforms disappeared, I wouldn't be able to ~~write~~ text my nearest and dearest when I wanted. This problem is ~~ex~~ crucial because our modern world requires sharing information fastly. We would all feel like aliens without knowing all the latest news!

Wonderful Reality

How lucky we are to have social media! I ~~still~~ believe living without it would harm the way we share information greatly. Life would become ~~less~~ more difficult.

Anyway, would you like to experience life without social media?
