Task 4

Nowadays, the four-day work week is becoming more and more popular. Many companies around the world are cutting out work hours for their workers. Is it a really good idea? This is a topic of the texts I've read.

The first text claims that four-day work week has a lot of positive sides. An extra day off gives employees an opportunity to rest from previous week. Also, workers with longer weekends have more time for hobbies, self-development and building relationship. However, disadvantages of a short work week are mentioned in the text too. For example, the fact that some workers have to be available full-time and can't employers reduce their working hours. Anyway, experts are sure that it is the most important to find balance between saving productivity and reducing working hours.

The second text focuses on the disadvantages of the four-day work week. From the text we can understand that employees who work four days per week often feel pressure because they have to do the same amount of work for shorter time. Also, many employers ~~are~~ worry that because of ~~reducing~~ cutting off working hours the productivity may become lower. That's why companies must be very careful with reducing working hours.

To sum up, I would like to say that the four-day work week is a very good initiative but difficult to realise. It would be not easy to reduce employees' working hours and save their salary. I hope some day workers will have less working hours than now.

Task 5

"If social media didn't exist"

Social media has changed our life. We use them every day. ~~without them and can't imagine our life without them~~
 Some people are even addicted to them. ~~However,~~ But what would be our life and society like if social media didn't exist? Let's talk about it!

~~Competition with other people~~
~~Firstly,~~

Watching and showing aren't always good.

Firstly, social media gives an opportunity to watch other people's life and show yours ~~one~~. At first sight, it sounds amazing. However, people usually post only positive their happy moments and victories. That's why endless ~~watching~~ watching other people's life can make us think that our life is boring and unsuccessful. If social media didn't exist, we wouldn't compose ourselves with others. Also, when we expose ~~our~~ moments and events from our life in social networks, our personal data can be endangered.

~~Secondly~~ Avoiding cybercrimes. Secondly, if social media didn't exist, it would be more difficult to face with cybercrimes. I'm sure that every body knows that there are a lot of criminals in social networks. However, many people lost their money via the Internet.

No more additions
I've said that a lot of people are addicted to social media. They can spend days and nights looking at their phones. It's very dangerous because everlasting scrolling influences our brain activity and ~~it's~~ it ~~has~~ become difficult to us to concentrate our attention on something else. I mean if there was no social media, ~~there~~ there would be no addiction. Very easy!

Work problems
Anyway, ~~social~~ social media have advantages too. For example, if social media didn't exist, many people would lose their jobs. Also, a lot of employers would face some problems because they ~~are~~ often communicate with employees using social networks. Лист-вкладыш 6

Personally, I can't imagine our life without social media ~~now~~.
 What about you? What do you think about social media? How often do you use them? Share your opinion!
