On a nice day in the countryside everything felt calm. I was sitting in the living room of our house and reading a truly captivating book. My little sister was playing with her dolls right next to me. Our parents were gone for a couple of hours because they had something important to do in the city, so we were home alone, enjoying our weekend.

Suddenly, a loud noise surprised everyone. We immediately drew our attention to the kitchen doors, because the sound was definitely made by something located there.

My sister appeared to be very frightened, so I decided to check if something serious had happened by myself. When I walked in, I discovered some broken parts of my favourite mug lying on the floor.

Firstly, I felt disappointed, but then I asked myself a question who might have broken it. I left it on the table after the breakfast and didn't even go there for some hours. I came back to the living room and told my sister everything. We both were confused.

Suddenly, we noticed an adorable cat running out of the house. Everything became clear. It was our neighbour's cat who went to our house, jumped on the table and broke the mug. We laughed and felt a big relief. The mystery was finally solved. I'd never thought something so interesting would happen to me.
